The Ward Ice Co. fearing lest the present supply of 500 tons of ice would not be sufficient for the Barre consumers during the remaining warm days of summer and early fall, has made arrangements with the Northfield Ice Co. so that, should it become necessary, ice can be secured to meet the demands of Barre consumers. Ordinarily 7,000 tons are packed away in the Ward storehouse during the winter months, but last season only 4,000 tons were cut, owing to the short and mild winter.

Barre's granite industry is facing another acute shortage of cars, and the railroad officials are being urged to make a little promise of relief for a considerable time. The scarcity of box cars is attributed to a general diversion of rolling stock to the West in anticipation of heavy grain shipments. Relief from that quarter, therefore, is not expected until after the harvest. Flat cars are also going in the wrong direction for Barre's interests, as many cars are being sent South to accommodate the lumbermen. To alleviate the situation in a time when business is especially good and shipments extraordinarily heavy, manufacturers are being urged to load the available cars with careful regard for utilizing every inch of space. In addition, in many instances, local shippers have been advised to specify low-side coal cars whenever possible.
